Edens Duphresne is a well-known face in his field having assisted many business owners and entrepreneurs to develop their companies in various markets.

Edens is a proud alumnus of the University of Delaware, where he earned his bachelors' degree in International Business and Business Management. His passion for building strong relationships with individuals has been developed over the years of working through college internships, getting involved with local businesses and campus organizations, as well as interacting on a regular basis with peers. Aside from two years spent serving in The Peace Corps, Edens followed his education fulfilling multiple diverse positions throughout his industry. As a result, he exceeds performance expectations and is a very well-rounded individual. Edens offers a creative perspective in business that often results in innovative solutions to challenges.

Working in the international sector for the last decade, Edens has become nationally and internationally familiar with a lot of great companies, contacts, and resources. His current role as a Business Development Specialist at US Export Import Bank makes it very easy for him to implement custom strategies into assisting other professionals with proper guidance and technique. His area of focus is centered on business management and consultancy on a global scale and educating underserved communities on Export Credit Insurance and Working Capital. He specializes in developing and guiding businesses while maintaining an efficient workforce. Edens facilitates essential communication, operations, and procedures to ensure optimization of all businesses through experience, expertise, and dedication to professionalism. His aim is to create lasting partnerships that are not only mutually supporting but productive and profitable.
